In force

You can take out the insurance for business trips, business and holiday trips, and for secondments.

Traveller's insurance cover will expire at the latest at the end of the insurance period during which the insured person reaches the age of 86. The Daily Allowance Cover is an exception: it expires at the end of the insurance period when the insured turns 70.

Corporate Travel Cover is valid abroad throughout the world both during work and off-duty, unless otherwise agreed. In Finland, the insurance is valid on trips to places which are more than 50 kilometres from the insured person's home, place of work or study, or holiday home. Trips between these places, considered to be part of the insured person's daily environment, are not considered business or official trips.

Business and official trips are those that as a rule take less than three months. Up to seven days off may be taken during a business trip and still be covered by the insurance. A secondment has an uninterrupted length of three months to five years. The insurance is valid on secondments also in the insured person's daily environment and on holiday trips.

The insurance does not cover

- Losses that occur in high-risk areas, see section "Travelling to high-risk areas".
- Competitive sports or its training
- Sports listed in the insurance terms and conditions and certain other activities.

You can agree separately if you want the insurance to cover losses occurring in high-risk areas, competitive sports or other sports.

Validity in sports and certain other activities

Traveller's insurance does not cover losses that occur in competitive sports or in sports and activities listed in the insurance terms and conditions. You can extend the insurance to cover competitive sports as well as the sports referred to in the insurance terms and conditions.

Sports referred to in the insurance terms and conditions for which you will need an extension include:

- Combat, contact or self-defence sports
- Strength sports: powerlifting, weightlifting and body building
- Motor sports
- Aviation, such as hot air and gas ballooning, motorised flying, hang- and paragliding, microlight flying, parachuting, BASE jumping, indoor skydiving, flying with amateur-built aircraft, and use of gliders and motor gliders

- Strength athletics
- Wrestling
- Research expeditions or treks to mountains, jungle, deserts or wilds, or other uninhabited areas.

You can also have an extension for competitive sports in your traveller's insurance as additional cover until further notice, or for a specified period. By competitive sports we mean sports games or matches arranged by a sports association or sports club and training arranged according to a training programme or other training typical of the sport, regardless of the age of the insured person. However, we do not consider non-competitive or over-35 sports organised as part of a sports federation and sports club as competitive sports.

Travelling to high-risk areas

Traveller's insurance does not cover losses in high-risk areas caused by the conditions within the area.

High-risk areas consist of countries or places to which the Ministry for Foreign Affairs of Finland recommends that you do not travel or which it recommends leaving. For the current travel recommendations, go to: um.fi/matkustustiedotteet.

If you have arrived in a high-risk area before such a recommendation was issued, the insurance will be valid for 10 days from the date the Ministry issued the recommendation, except if there is a major war.

Traveller's Insurance is valid in high-risk areas normally if, for example, your travel illness is in no way linked with the reason to either not travel to or to leave the area.

You can agree separately if you need either fixed-term or permanent cover in a high-risk area.

If the insured dies during the journey, the insurance will cover reasonable expenses of repatriation, or reasonable funeral expenses abroad. The expenses are compensated regardless of the cause of death. The policyholder will make the arrangements after the death of the insured person.

Travel Interruption Cover includes evacuation and catastrophe cover.

This cover provides financial compensation if your trip is interrupted or you are unable to use services at the destination.

We provide compensation under Travel Interruption Cover if the insured person's journey must be interrupted for a compelling reason because

- an illness or an accident suffered by the insured during the journey

Evacuation and catastrophe cover

Evacuation cover

If, during a journey, the insured person encounters a situation where the Ministry for Foreign Affairs of Finland or equivalent authority recommends travellers leave the area, for example, due to a sudden natural disaster or other sudden catastrophe or act of terror, we will pay the insured person additional travel and accommodation expenses needed to leave the area. The insured person may return either to his/her home or secondment country, or travel to the nearest safe destination.

The insured must personally arrange the travel and accommodation services for which s/he seeks compensation.

Travel expenses for connections will not be covered as evacuation costs after the insured person has reached a safe destination. The cover will not indemnify for loss of earnings or indirect expenses either.

Catastrophe cover

If the insured person is travelling or is on a secondment in an area where, for example, a major forest fire breaks out, a serious explosion takes place, or a sudden natural disaster occurs which results in the insured person having to travel from his/her place of accommodation or residence to a safe destination located in the neighbouring area, we will compensate the insured person for additional travel and accommodation expenses for a maximum period of 30 days. Transport expenses caused by having to transfer the insured person's movable property to safety from the accommodation in a secondment location are also compensated.

The insured persons must personally arrange the travel, accommodation and transport services for which they seek compensation.

Loss of earnings or indirect expenses will not be covered as catastrophe costs, nor will that part of the work performed by the insured person related to the transportation of movable property be covered.

Daily Allowance Cover

Daily Allowance Cover provides financial support if the insured person becomes disabled owing to an accident that occurred during travel.

We pay a daily allowance for the days when the insured person is unable to work as a result of a travel accident. The allowance is paid for up to 360 days and is taxable income. The compensation paid for total disability is the daily allowance valid at the time the accident occurred, and the compensation paid for partial disability is the proportion of the daily allowance corresponding to the loss of working capacity.

Compensation is paid no sooner than from the date when a doctor has stated disability has begun. If a qualifying period has been chosen for the policy, payment of the daily allowance will begin after the qualifying period.

Daily allowance cover expires at the end of the insurance period during which the insured reaches 70 years of age.

Disability Cover

Disability Cover provides financial support if the insured person suffers permanent disability as a result of a travel accident or travel illness, and the permanent disability has continued for three months.

Permanent handicap refers to a medically assessed general handicap which the insured has incurred through a travel accident or travel illness and which, according to medical prognosis, is unlikely to be healed. When determining the handicap, only the quality of the illness, injury of disability is considered.

Individual circumstances, such as profession or hobbies, have no bearing on defining the disability.

The benefit for full handicap (handicap class 20) is the full sum insured as a lump sum, whilst the benefit for a partial handicap (handicap class 1-19) is a lump sum equal to as many twentieths of the sum insured as indicated by the handicap class. The degree of handicap is determined in accordance with the handicap classification decree by the Ministry of Social Affairs and Health when the accident occurred. Injuries are divided into 20 handicap classes, with class 20 corresponding to full handicap and class 1 to the smallest coverable handicap.

Death Cover

Death Cover provides financial support if the insured person perishes during the cover's validity as a result of a travel accident or travel illness.

If the insured person perishes during the cover's validity as a result of a travel accident or travel illness, we will pay the beneficiary the valid sum insured.

Cancellation cover

Cancellation Cover provides financial support if the insured person is unable to go to a reserved journey from his/her home country or country of secondment.

We will compensate travel cancellation if the reason for it is compelling or owing to

- sudden illness, accident or death suffered by the insured
- substantial loss of or damage to the insured person's property in Finland
- sudden illness, accident or death suffered by the insured person's next of kin or travelling companion
- serious illness, accident or death of a substitute worker at a farm when the insured person is a farmer.

If a journey is cancelled, we compensate the expenses paid in advance for which the insured person is responsible according to the terms and conditions of the tour operator or other service provider, and which the tour operator or other service provider is not obliged to refund by law or under the general package tour terms and conditions, or other terms and conditions.

As cancellation costs we also compensate cost that were caused by the insured person obtaining a carer for a child under 15 living in the same household, due to the child's sudden illness or accident, in order that s/he will be able to personally leave on the journey.

The indemnity for travel cancellation is a maximum of EUR 3,000, but no more than the price of the original journey.

The tour operator or other service provider must be contacted to cancel a journey or other service as soon as it is clear that cancellation is necessary.

Cover for Missed or Delayed Departure

We compensate extra travel expenses to the insured person that are caused by missed or delayed departure, for any of the reasons below.

We provide compensation under Cover for Missed Departure if the insured person fails to arrive at the departure point for a flight or a boat, train or bus journey or at the departure point for a connection, because the means of public transport the insured person intended to use is delayed due to poor weather, natural disaster, technical fault, criminal act or action by an authority, or the vehicle the person used undergoes a road accident or has a technical fault.

If the insured is late, the insurance covers the necessary and reasonable expenses required to make sure the insured will be able to depart for a destination as scheduled. Expenses are indemnified up to EUR 2,000, but no more than the price of the original journey. If the insured is too late to take part in the journey, the price of the lost journey will be covered, but no more than EUR 2,000.

We provide compensation under Cover for Delayed Departure if the insured person is delayed by more than six hours at the initial departure point or the departure point of a connection. Cost compensation up to a maximum of EUR 35 is paid for each six-hour period or part thereof exceeding the qualifying period, and for a maximum total of EUR 350 per insured person.

Cover for Assault, Abduction and Crisis Therapy

If the insured person is assaulted abroad or suffers other intentional violence, we compensate for any consequent pain and suffering and loss of income. The maximum amount of such compensation is EUR 42,500.

Abduction

If the insured person is abducted during his/her journey, we pay compensation for mental and physical suffering for the period that the abduction lasted. By abduction we mean a situation in which a person is taken away using violence. Another condition is that the abductor's intention is to threaten the abducted person's health or life if the abductor's demands are not met.

Compensation for mental and physical suffering is paid a total of EUR 100 per day, but only for a maximum of 90 days.

Crisis therapy

The luggage insurance of Corporate Travel Cover can be chosen for an individual or a family. If the insurance has been taken out for a family, coverage extends to the insured person's family members who live permanently in the same household, that is, at the same address. A personal insurance only provides cover for the insured person.

By luggage we mean property taken along or acquired during a journey by the insured person, including tools used in gainful employment, computers and mobile phones. You can take added cover in your luggage insurance to include payment instruments and securities up to a selected sum insured.

We compensate luggage losses caused by some sudden and unforeseeable occurrence. The insurance applies to the insured in their capacity of traveller in matters related to their private life.

Legal Expenses Travel Insurance cannot be purchased unless you already have Travel Liability Insurance.

Good to know about travel insurance

This section contains general facts about Corporate Travel Cover.

Definition of travel illness and travel accident

Travel illness is defined as an illness requiring medical treatment and which started, or its first symptoms appeared (with the insurance still being valid), during the journey and for which medical treatment was given either during the journey or within 14 days of the end of the journey. The time limit of 14 days is not applied in the case of an infectious disease with a longer incubation period.

The following, for example, are not considered travel illnesses: mountain sickness, dental or masticatory system illness or symptoms, illness caused by abuse of medication, or use of alcohol or narcotics. We do not compensate pregnancy, childbirth, abortion or infertility or any related illnesses or complications as travel illnesses.

A travel accident is a sudden, external occurrence which is beyond the control of the insured, which takes place during the trip, and which causes bodily injury. Typical accidental injuries include fractures and cuts.

We also compensate for the following as accidents: drowning, heatstroke, frostbite and sunstroke.

How are travelling companions or next of kin defined?

The insured person's next of kin are considered to be

- a person with whom the insured person is married or in a registered partnership or common-law spouse living in the same address
- his/her children, spouse's children, children of registered partner or the children of common-law spouse living in the same address
- other than the insured person's children living permanently in the same household
- grandchildren
- parents
- grandparents or parents-in-law
- siblings
- siblings of spouse and registered partner
- daughters- and sons-in-law
- By the insured person's travelling companion, we refer to up to two persons with whom the insured person has jointly reserved a journey and on which they are about to or already have departed. If there are more than three persons going on a journey together, none of them is considered a travelling companion under the insurance terms and conditions.

Insurance premiums and compensation in taxation

As a rule, the travel insurance premium is usually not a taxable benefit to the insured person.

- Compensation paid under medical treatment cover is tax-exempt.
- Daily allowance paid under Daily Allowance Cover is taxable income to the insured person.
- A lump-sum compensation paid under Disability Cover is tax-exempt income to the insured person.
- Compensation paid under death cover to next of kin who are the insured person's beneficiaries under tax legislation is subject to inheritance tax. If the beneficiary is other than your next of kin, the compensation is fully taxable capital income.

Taxation issues are based on the current legislation.

General cover restrictions and exclusions

We do not cover any loss or damage caused wilfully or through gross negligence. Moreover, the insurance policies do not cover nuclear accidents or loss or damage indemnified under a specific guarantee, law or other agreement.

Inception and termination of insurance and the minimum premium

Your policy will come into force as soon as we have received your insurance application. If you wish, you may choose a later date of commencement. If the policy cannot be granted, we are not responsible for any damage. The insurance will remain effective for an agreed fixed period or until further notice, but you may give notice of termination of the insurance at any time.

Note! During the insurance period, we may charge an insurance-based minimum premium.

If the bill for the premium is not paid by the due date, we can terminate your insurance contract with two weeks' notice. We also charge penalty interest and collection costs.

The insurance can also be terminated if the policyholder or the insured has

- provided incorrect information
- failed to observe the safety regulations
- caused loss or damage wilfully or through gross negligence
- increased the risk of loss or damage; for example, by assigning property for the use of a third party.

The policy may be changed annually

We have the right to alter the insurance terms and conditions, and premiums and other terms of contract at the end of the insurance period on the basis of

- new or amended legislation or a regulation issued by the authorities
- unforeseen change in circumstances, such as an international crisis
- changes in insurance claims expenditure.

We can also make minor changes to the insurance terms and conditions and other terms of contract, provided that the changes do not affect the primary content of the insurance contract.

Filing a claim

A claim for compensation must be made within 12 months from the date when you became aware of the insurance and received information about the loss or damage and its consequences and, at the latest, within 10 years of the occurrence of the loss or damage or, in the case of insurance taken out against bodily injury or liability for damages, the damaging consequences were caused.
